INTRODUCTION

We are pleased to provide the following information regarding baggage allowance and rules for several of the most utilized airlines flying to Kazan for the Competition.

This information is current at time of distribution, may be subject to change, and may vary for your flight class chosen. Please refer to the respective airlines for up to date information.

INITIAL INFORMATION

* You may find your baggage allowance in the itinerary receipt.

The signs are based on two concepts of baggage transportation: weight and piece.

- WEIGHT CONCEPT is about weight limitation.

In itinerary receipt, it is marked with the signs "K" and "KG". The figure (0, 10, 20, etc.) shows the number of kilos which passenger may take with him/her free. The weight of baggage may be distributed among several bags provided they do not exceed the dimensions established by the airline company.

- PIECE CONCEPT is about limit for the number of baggage pieces.

This means baggage is registered per piece. In itinerary receipt, it is marked with the signs "N", "PC" and "P". The figure (0, 01, 1, 2, etc.) shows the number of standard baggage pieces for the selected flight. Airline Company establishes the weight of an item.
